

LIBRARY OPENS—Vicki Koenig, left, grade seven student at Normanby Township Community School in Ayton, talks with assistant librarian Mrs. Nevada Holliday during the official opening of the newly expanded library facility at the school Oct. 14. At right, Mrs. Terry Brusso looks through a book available at the library. Head librarian Mrs. J. Byers says that the expansion doubled the amount of space in the library. "Before it was depressing. Just one room," she explained, saying that a classroom next door was used for the extra space when renovations were carried out during the past summer. The library has its own books as well as books purchased by the school board.